

Agenda subject to change

- 8.30 - 9.00 Registration and coffee
- 9.00 - 9.05 Chairman's opening remarks
Philip Davies MP, Chair, All-Party Parliamentary Betting and Gaming Group and Member, Culture, Media and Sport Select Committee
- 9.05 - 9.15 The evolution of the interactive gambling industry
'A discussion of the sector's historical development, providing colour to today's considerations of the consequences of the "grey" market being superseded by a newly regulated environment throughout Europe.'
Stephen Kettleley, Partner, DLA Piper
- 9.15 - 9.25 Expectations for the European Commission's online gambling communication
Sigrig Ligné, Secretary General, European Gaming and Betting Association (EGBA)
- 9.25 - 10.05 European gambling policy – enhanced co-ordination and the impact on the UK
To what extent are the Green Paper proposals a 'roadmap' towards the harmonisation of regulatory approaches? What will be the impact of the harmonisation on the European gambling industry and in particular on UK-based operators? What are the advantages and disadvantages of including online gambling as part of the 'free flow of goods and services' principle of the European Union? What are the next steps for increasing EU-wide competition and liberalising the markets of member states to enable international operators?
Clive Hawkswood, Chief Executive, Remote Gambling Association (RGA)
Peter Reynolds, Director of Communications, bwin.party digital entertainment
Questions and comments from the floor with Stephen Kettleley, Partner, DLA Piper and Sigrig Ligné, Secretary General, European Gaming and Betting Association (EGBA)
- 10.05 - 11.05 Remote gambling – regulatory challenges, technological trends and growth
What effect will taxing users at the point of consumption have on UK gambling operators? How significant is the danger that reputable online gambling operators will leave, or discontinue services in the UK? How confident are UK consumers in using foreign gambling websites, and what is needed to increase trust? Where will growth in the sector come from and what opportunities are yet to be exploited? How far are the opportunities in mobile, tablets and connected TVs being realised and what are the barriers? Are industry standards and regulatory controls covering these new platforms sufficiently robust to deal with gambling as an app or programme – i.e. is there a need for greater controls for problem gambling, age-verification, data protection and privacy for users connecting by mobile or other device?
Matt Lambert, Director of Public Affairs, Betfair
Charles Cohen, Chief Executive Officer, Probability
David Clifton, Partner, Licensing and Gambling, Joelson Wilson
Simon Oaten, Director, Betting & Gaming Sector Leader, Deloitte
Questions and comments from the floor
- 11.05 - 11.10 Chairman's closing remarks
Philip Davies MP, Chair, All-Party Parliamentary Betting and Gaming Group and Member, Culture, Media and Sport Select Committee
- 11.10 - 11.40 Coffee
- 11.40 - 11.45 Chairman's opening remarks
Lord Kennedy of Southwark, Member, All-Party Parliamentary Betting and Gaming Group
- 11.45 - 12.00 'Keeping gambling fair and safe'
Matthew Hill, Director of Strategy, Research & Analysis, Gambling Commission
- 12.00 - 12.55 Gambling in society – problem gambling, fraud and protecting consumers
What is the current state of the relationship between the UK government, the public and the gambling industry? With many operators contributing to efforts in the country of origin to rehabilitate problem and addicted gamblers, how effective, or otherwise, have online operators been at aiding in the detection and treatment of users? How significant is the impact of the illegal gambling market on European consumers and operators? How successful have authorities across Europe and in the UK been at tackling black and grey market gambling sites? What are examples of best practice in preventing fraud and money laundering using online gambling, and how far can these be extended or replicated in other territories?
Marc Etches, Chief Executive Officer, Responsible Gambling Trust
Dr Henrietta Bowden-Jones, Founder and Director, National Problem Gambling Clinic; Member, Responsible Gambling Strategy Board and Spokesperson on Pathological Gambling, Royal College of Psychiatrists
Michael Caselli, Publisher & Editor in Chief, Lyceum Publishing
Questions and comments from the floor with Matthew Hill, Director of Strategy, Research & Analysis, Gambling Commission
- 12.55 - 13.00 Chairman's and Westminster eForum closing remarks
Lord Kennedy of Southwark, Member, All-Party Parliamentary Betting and Gaming Group
Thomas Raynsford, Senior Producer, Westminster eForum