- 10.00 - 10.45 Commissioning, personalisation and implementing waiting time standards
With funding for mental health services cut by 2% in real terms over the last two years, what opportunities exist for Health and Wellbeing Boards, Clinical Commissioning Groups and NHS England to effectively utilise resources by providing timely interventions, promoting mental wellbeing and integrating services? To what extent will the introduction of waiting time standards for mental health conditions from April 2015 support the aim of parity of esteem with physical health? Following the launch of the Mental Health Dementia and Neurology Intelligence Networks, what are the early indications for the pilot profiling tools in providing commissioners with relevant data on risk factors, prevalence and outcomes, and what more needs to be done to ensure this information is useful for decision makers at a local level? What lessons can be learnt from the piloting of personal health budgets in mental health, and what are the next steps for implementing recommendations, such as better addressing the needs of BME communities and increasing access to psychological therapies?
Dr Matthew Patrick, Chief Executive, South London and Maudsley NHS Foundation Trust and Director, London Mental Health Strategic Network
Dr Phil Moore, Deputy Chair (Clinical), NHS Kingston Clinical Commissioning Group and Board Member, NHS Clinical Commissioners
Paul Morgan, Strategic Commissioning Manager, Dorset County Council

- 11.20 - 11.50 The future for children's mental health and managing the transition to adult care
With the Care Minister warning that youth mental health care is 'in the dark ages', what more should be done to provide appropriate care and ensure that increasing demand for inpatient children's mental health services is met? What commitments should be made by a future Government on mental health education and specialised training for teachers and school nurses? How can challenges around early detection of mental illness and managing the transition between children's and adults' care be addressed?
