

Scotland Policy Conferences Keynote Seminar: Priorities for infrastructure and planning policy - delivering major projects and preparing for the future Planning Bill

Timing: Morning, Thursday, 14th September 2017

Venue: Royal College of Surgeons of Edinburgh, Nicolson Street, Edinburgh EH8 9DW

Draft agenda subject to change

- 8.30 - 9.00 Registration and coffee
- 9.00 - 9.05 Chair's opening remarks
Monica Lennon MSP, Shadow Minister for Inequalities, Scottish Labour Party
- 9.05 - 9.25 Overview of Scotland's planning policy
John McNairney, Chief Planner, The Scottish Government
Questions and comments from the floor
- 9.25 - 10.10 Perspectives on Scotland's planning framework: regional partnership working, strengthening the National Planning Framework and encouraging community engagement
What are the key priorities for regional partnership working within Scotland's planning system, particularly in relation to strategic planning of major infrastructure projects that cut across local boundaries? How will proposed changes to Local Development Plans, such as their extension from 5 to 10 years and including local place plans as a statutory requirement, balance the concerns of both communities and developers?
Craig McLaren, Director, RTPi Scotland
Clare Symonds, Chair, Planning Democracy
Ian Aikman, Chief Planning Officer, Scottish Borders Council
Eric Guthrie, Partnership Director, Tactran
Questions and comments from the floor
- 10.10 - 11.00 Developing Scotland's infrastructure: major projects, reducing barriers to development and assessing the potential infrastructure levy
What are the key issues that the Scottish Government needs to take account of in seeking to increase Scotland's housing supply, whilst also ensuring the continued development of vital infrastructure projects? With Simplified Planning Zones focused on economic growth already operating in some areas of Scotland, what are the likely outcomes of extending their focus to housing delivery? How will moves to provide resourcing for measures in the Planning Bill through raising planning fees, and the proposal for an infrastructure levy, affect the development of the Scottish Government's proposed infrastructure first approach to housing delivery? What are the potential implications of expanding permitted development rights for industries such as telecommunications?
Craig Whelton, Partner, Burness Paull
Neale McIlvanney, Strategic Planning Manager, North Ayrshire Council
Gillian Baillie, Planning Director, Jacobs
Senior speaker confirmed from Homes for Scotland
Senior speaker confirmed from EE
Questions and comments from the floor
- 11.00 - 11.05 Chair's closing remarks
Monica Lennon MSP, Shadow Minister for Inequalities, Scottish Labour Party
- 11.05 - 11.35 Coffee
- 11.35 - 11.40 Chair's opening remarks
Senior Parliamentarian
- 11.40 - 12.00 Assessing implications of land reform on the planning sector
Andrew Thin, Chair, Scottish Land Commission
Questions and comments from the floor
- 12.00 - 12.45 Future-proofing the planning system: skills, innovation and developing resilient places
How can the Scottish Government take action to ensure that its planning system is fit for purpose in the long term? What are the key policies needed to maintain and upskill the planning workforce? How can digital technology be harnessed to speed up the planning system and encourage greater citizen engagement? How are proposed changes to the planning system likely to affect the development of low-carbon infrastructure, a key target of the Scottish Government's draft energy strategy?
Petra Biberbach, Chief Executive, PAS
Diarmaid Lawlor, Director of Place, Architecture and Design Scotland
Gemma Hamilton, Projects Lead, UK, Brookfield Renewable
Senior representative, association
Questions and comments from the floor
- 12.45 - 12.55 Closing keynote remarks
John McNairney, Chief Planner, The Scottish Government
- 12.55 - 13.00 Chair's and Scotland Policy Conferences closing remarks
Senior Parliamentarian
Michael Ryan, Deputy Editor, Scotland Policy Conferences